

A composite image of space. The top left shows the Earth's horizon with a blue sky and white clouds. The top right shows the Moon in a dark sky. In the center, a small orange planet (Mars) is visible. The bottom half of the image is a dark field of stars.

Forum of Master Project Managers

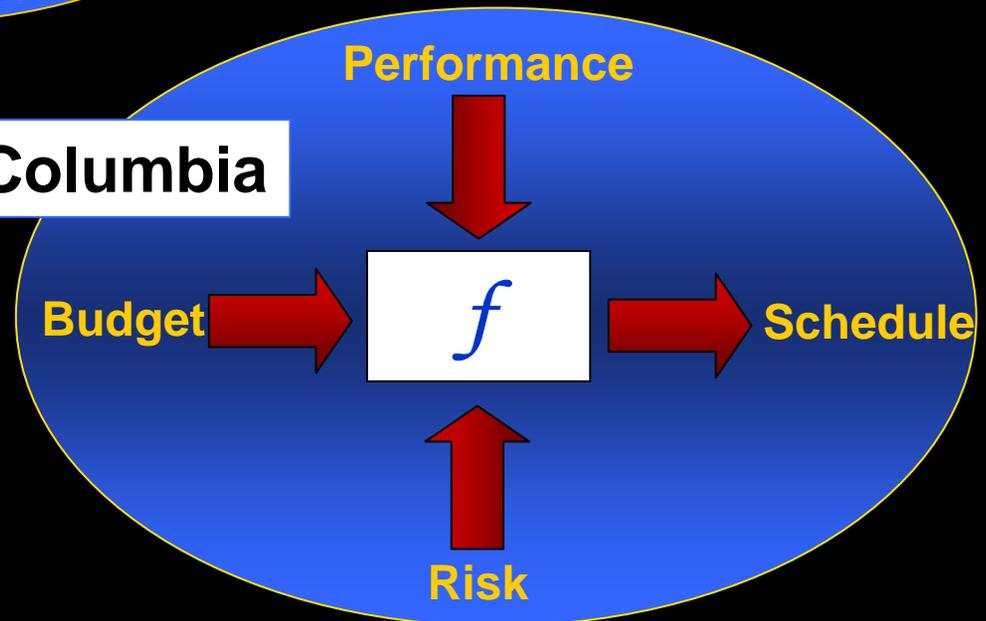

August 9-11, 2004

Program Risk Posture

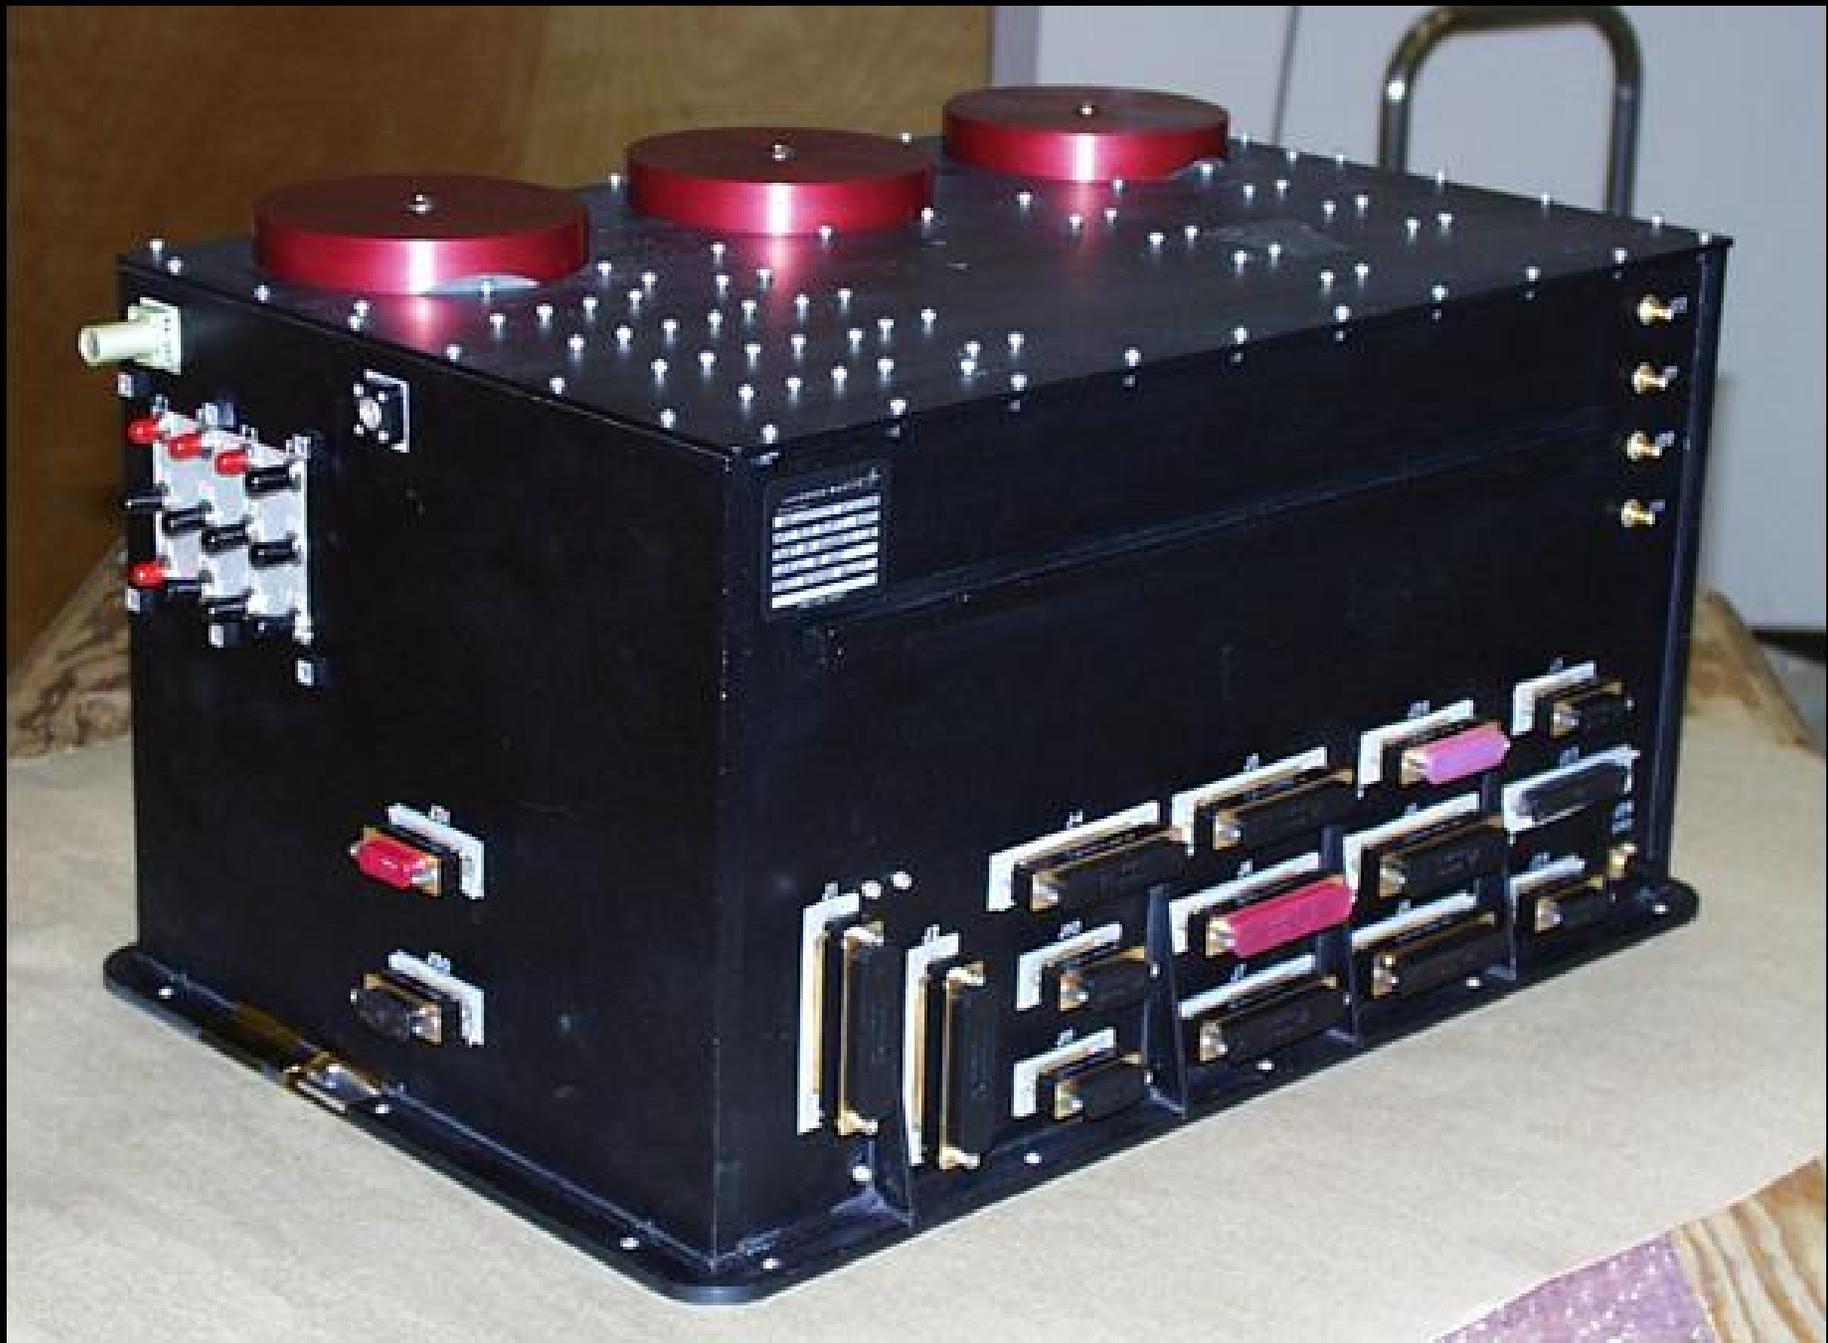

Pre-Columbia

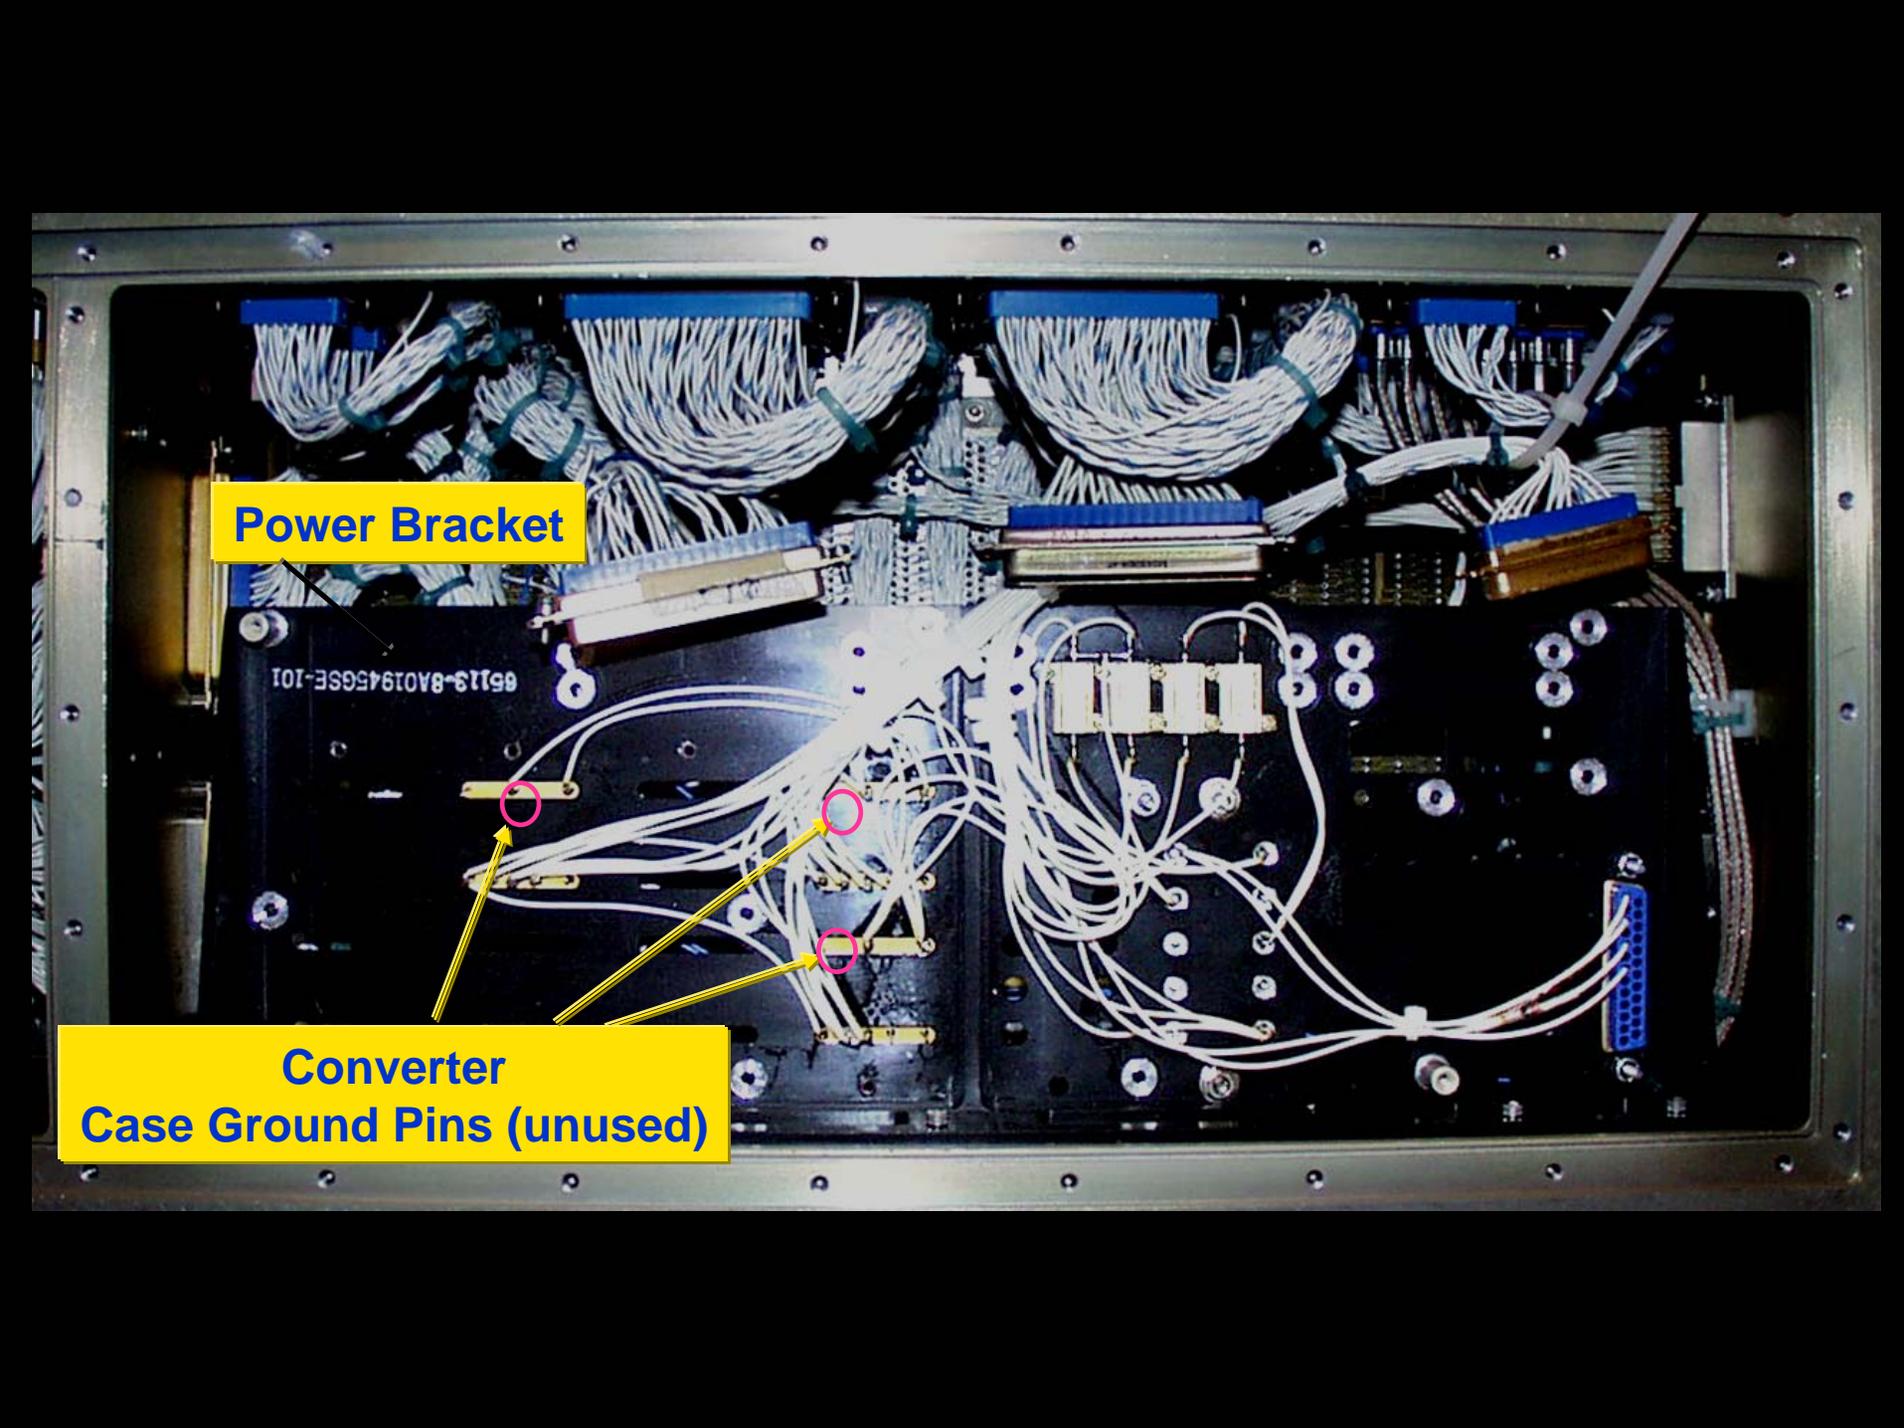

Post-Columbia

The image shows the interior of a server chassis. At the top, there are several bundles of white cables connected to blue headers. Below these, a power bracket is visible. In the center, there is a black printed circuit board (PCB) with various components and connectors. At the bottom, there are several unused ground pins on the PCB. The chassis is made of metal and has several screws visible around the edges.

Power Bracket

Converter
Case Ground Pins (unused)

